

OACC THEME

©Words by Susan Richman
arranged by Stan Slaughter

Chorus Em Em sus Em Em Em sus Em
OACC grows in the heart of the Hills, here in the Ozark woods
Em Em sus Em Em sus Em
Gathering our strength together, life is understood

Verse 1. The laws of nature are written in stone, in seed, in wind, in sun.

But human laws are empty words, until the two are one.

Verse 2. Seeds blow to the prairie plains, and up to Northern waters.
Folks everywhere throw off their chains, Nature's sons and daughters.

Verse 3. From the ashes of an ancient tree, a sapling grows a new.
From the touch and love we give each other, we are all renewed.

Verse 4. If you've never sung your song before, I hope you sing it now.

'Cause what you sing is what you are, earth, wind, and fire.